Mobile Edge Announces the Slim-Line Wireless Presentation Remote

ANAHEIM, CA, - Jan. 9, 2006 - Mobile Edge, the leading supplier of stylish computer carrying cases and accessories, today announced their latest technological complement to their fine line of carrying cases. The credit-card sized Slim-Line Wireless Presentation Remote has the same form-factor as a PCMCIA card, so the device can be stored and transported within your notebook computer's PCMCIA card slot. It allows presenters to remotely control slides in virtually any presentation or slide show software, and includes a built-in laser pointer.

"This is the ultimate tool for today's business person: slim, light, sleek and extremely user-friendly," said Lewis Lustman, director of marketing for Mobile Edge. "It allows a presenter to be in complete control of their presentation and it is small enough to tuck away within your computer when not in use."

Mobile Edge's new Slim-Line Wireless Presentation Remote is a USB plug and play device. It has a wireless range of up to 75 feet and has an integrated laser pointer and is PC - and Mac - compatible. This sleek remote is the smallest on the market and allows for complete control of the screen and your presentation.

The Slim-Line Wireless Presentation Remote is now available with a SRP of $79.99, Model MEAP01.

All Mobile Edge accessories combine high-tech innovations with cutting-edge style to create a truly best-of-class product.

The technological accessories are available through the Mobile Edge website, www.mobileedge.com or through select retailers such as Best Buy, Micro Center, Fry's Electronics, CircuitCity.com, CompUSA.com, PC Connection, J&R Music and Computer World, Rockwell Computer Software Experience or DataVision.
