THE NOTEBOOK SLEEVE THAT PROTECTS FOR LIFE

New SlipSuit notebook sleeve by Mobile Edge - better-stronger-faster

ANAHEIM, Calif., - Nov. 30, 2006 - Mobile Edge, the industry leader in innovative and stylish notebook computer carrying cases and accessories, released a neoprene notebook sleeve that is guaranteed for life. Unlike conventional notebook sleeves, the new SlipSuit not only protects notebook computers but also has a zippered outside pocket to store additional accessories.

In today's fast paced mobile lifestyle, people want protection for their notebook computer but also the freedom of a lightweight case that is designed for people on the go. The SlipSuit offers that protection and mobility all in one and with the style and functionality only offered by Mobile Edge. It's the protection your notebook needs and yet small enough to slip into a larger bag or tote.

Suitable for the classroom or the boardroom, the sporty style and edgy lines of the SlipSuit make carrying your notebook easy and comfortable. Made of durable water-resistant neoprene wetsuit-like-material, the SlipSuit is backed with a Lifetime Warranty.

"The SlipSuits are a perfect addition to the Mobile Edge collection of stylish notebook cases," said Chuck Gangi, vice president of sales for Mobile Edge. "Customers need a simple solution to protect their notebooks, and Mobile Edge has delivered. By offering an outside zippered pocket, the SlipSuit offers functionality unparalleled to other sleeve manufacturers."

The SlipSuit carries a suggested retail price of $29.99 and comes in two sizes and four different color schemes - Black with Silver trim, Blue with Silver trim, Red with Silver trim and Red with Gold trim. The smaller version accommodates notebooks with screens up to 14.1" and the larger fits 15.4" and some 17" notebooks.
